MAYDAY. The code name used by U.S. Army Sergeant Paige I. Adams. She was among the reinstated G.I. Joe team's new recruits in 2001. Adams impressed Dusty with her marksmanship when he was running the new Joes through target practice. Adams later worked undercover on a joint Joe-Iron Grenadier mission to rescue Flint and Baroness from the Russian mafia. She later took part in the battle against the forces of a revived Serpentor on Cobra Island. Not long after that mission, Adams was made a full-fledged member of the Joe team as an urban warfare specialist under the code name "Mayday". On her first mission as Mayday, she took part in a fight off the coast of Cobra Island that served as a distraction to allow Barrel Roll to infiltrate Cobra's headquarters.

The name "Mayday" is a reference to the short-lived G.I. Joe: Extreme series, which featured a female character with the same name.
