

Wet Down

Tuesday, 26 February 2008

WET DOWN. The code name used by U.S. Navy Chief Warrant Officer Daniel P. Alexander. Growing up near the naval base in Norfolk, virginia, Wet Down would often try to sneak inside just to get a look at the ships. Once he graduated high school, Wet Down immediately enlisted in the Navy. He excelled in all aspects of his training and went on to become the youngest SEAL in the Navy. In addition to his military training, Wet Down is also a martial arts instructor. The newly reinstated G.I. Joe team took notice of the enthusiastic young SEAL, and his first mission with the Joes was the team's invasion of Cobra Island to battle the forces of a revived Serpentor.

(Glv2 24; Figure: 1)