

F.A.N.G. III

Thursday, 28 February 2008

F.A.N.G. III. The third Cobra aircraft to bear the name FANG has more in common with the design of the original than the FANG II. It is small, single-pilot helicopter armed with a rocket launcher and twin gatling guns. The FANG III shares the same opened-cockpit design as its predecessors, but offered more protection. The FANG III was first used by the revived Cobra organization that arose several years after its first defeat at the hands of an international military force.
