

Welcome to the new site!

Saturday, 25 October 2008

Welcome to the renovated site! This new version of the site will make it much easier to update. Right now, part of the site is new, many parts of it are still in the old format. Updates will be coming, but feel free to point out any glitches you may come across. The new version includes:

A new format for the profile pages, with some new images in most. The first few issue summaries of the Marvel series are in the new format, too. The Character Guide and Encyclopedia pages have separate entries, making it easier to add new ones without editing a whole page.

There's even an RSS feed to let you know about any site updates. All of this is based on the Joomla content management system.

For any comments on the new site, you can always head to the G.I. Joe Comics Forum over at JoeReloaded.com .