

Cartwright, Senator

Wednesday, 20 February 2008

SENATOR CARTWRIGHT. A United States senator who was following orders from General Winters, a corrupt member of the committee of Generals known as the Jugglers. It is uncertain whether Cartwright worked for Winters -- who had made a deal with Destro's son Alexander during his attack on America -- or had some dealings with Cobra himself. Under orders from Winters, Cartwright cut funding and resources for the reinstated G.I. Joe team, bringing him into conflict with Hawk. He also kept some evidence of Winters' dealings with Alexander as insurance against Winters. When Hawk learned this and blackmailed Winters to get funding for the Joes, including a new Pit, Cartwright signed the final documents. In order to protect himself, Winters ordered Firefly to get rid of Cartwright. A bomb he planted in Cartwright's office exploded, killing the Senator.
