AGENT FACES. The code name used by U.S. Army Corporal Michelino J. Paolino, born in Parma, Ohio. A naturally talented mimic, Paolino's incredibly accurate impersonation of his First Sergeant got him transferred to a top secret intelligence school where he learned to become a master of disguise and an infiltrator. He served with the reinstated G.I. Joe team in the past, and as a reserve member, his activities during the conflict known as World War III remain highly classified. One of many Joes listed on World War III member assignment map first seen in AE #28.
