BIG LOB. The code name used by U.S. Army Specialist Bradley J. Sanders, born in Chicago, IL. He specialized in infantry and was also a grenadier. Big Lob worked with the G.I. Joe team some time before it was shut down in 1994. He has an annoying tendency to speak about himself in first person and constantly use sports metaphors. Like many former Joes, Big Lob is a reserve member of the current team. He was stationed in Uganda with a number of other Joes during the conflict known as World War III. One of many Joes listed on World War III member assignment map first seen in AE #28. Big Lob's only appearance was in the animated G.I. Joe: The Movie, but he was never made into a action figure until 2010 where he was sold as a G.I. Joe Fan Club exclusive character. G.I. Joe vs. Cobra: The Essential Guide lists his first name as Clifton, while his filecard names him Bradley. (AE 25 (cover); Figure: 1)
